

Roosevelt and Churchill Will Issue Parley Report

White House Declares Conferences Progress Satisfactorily; No Details Given

Refuses Comment
Early Withholds Any Report on Specific Actions

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Vital conferences between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were described today by the White House as progressing day and night in a "very satisfactory way" and it was disclosed that the two United Nations leaders expected to issue a joint statement later on.

They are conferring together and also with military, naval and air experts of both countries.

This much was revealed by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early. But he had nothing to add on specific details of the conferences, such as whether Mr. Roosevelt and the Prime Minister were focusing their attention primarily on the question of opening a second front in Europe or on possible steps to stave off an even more decisive defeat at the hands of the Axis armies in North Africa.

The statement from Early that conferences still were continuing was the first word about the secret deliberations of the President and Churchill since the latter arrived in this country Thursday.

"I can say simply this," Early told reporters, "the conferences are continuing in a very orderly and a very satisfactory way. Neither the Prime Minister nor the President feels they have reached a point in their talks where any public statements can be made. As soon as that point has been reached, you may expect a joint statement from them."

"The conferences are continuing day and night, and between the British and American staffs working under their guidance, but holding at times separate conferences, each of them being held by the prime minister."

The leaders, Early said, are holding numerous talks with other parties, but these are being kept "off the record."

"By that," Early explained, "I mean the President and prime minister will continue seeing all kinds of experts, military, naval and air. Any one of these meetings is really part of the whole. There is no need to put it on the record, or feature any one of them."

The presidential secretary was informed that London newspapers were splurging Washington reports that Lieutenant General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of Canadian overseas forces, was being heavily favored to command United Nations forces that might be employed in opening any second front. So far as he was concerned, Early said these reports were "highly speculative."

"As I told you when Mr. Churchill arrived," he added, "yours is a free press. I anticipate plenty of speculation, and apparently we are getting it."

At the time of Churchill's arrival in this country, Early had said he considered speculation on a second front entirely justified.

New Super Market Near Post Office Opens This Week

Remodelled City Building Will House Modern Market of A. & P. Chain System

Friday the new central super market of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., for several years on Cornell street, will open for business in the remodelled Millard building on Prince street.

Workmen have been busy for several months getting the former garage and show rooms of James Millard & Son, local Ford auto dealers, ready for use as a super market.

J. W. Newcomb, Jr., general superintendent for the Albany unit of the A. & P., of which Kingston is a part, said today that the new super market was being opened to make the store's service available to more housewives than before.

Describing the super market, Mr. Newcomb pointed out several reasons why it will service Kingston better than the A. & P.'s older type of store. "For one thing," he said, "the new super market will be five complete stories in one. Under one roof it will include departments for dairy products, meats, produce, groceries, and baked goods. This arrangement makes it possible for the housewife to do her shopping in one place with a minimum of effort and time."

The new market, said Mr. Newcomb, is designed and laid out for the convenience of shoppers, with wide aisles between the displays of food. Parking facilities, he said, are available adjacent to the store, free to the patrons.

The new market takes up half of the former garage and half of the large show rooms, facing Broadway. The other half of the garage is leased by the Board of Education and is used as a vocational school.

The Kingston Ration Board, which has been located on the third floor of the city hall, Saturday moved to its new quarters in the Millard building, occupying office space on the second floor over the former Millard show rooms.

Since the building was taken over by the A. & P. super market and the Board of Education, the Millard concern has been on Broadway, adjoining the former H. W. Paen plant.

Murray Gets Support
Syracuse, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—New York's state C. I. O. convention has pledged its "unquestioned support" to C. I. O. President Philip Murray and attacked John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, as pursuing a "steady course of disruption and disunity."

The convention adopted a resolution Saturday night terming Lewis' campaign to organize daymen an attempt "to drive a wedge between the unity of all sections of our population that is necessary to victory."

Enemy Is Establishing Itself at Kiska Harbor, 585 Miles From U. S. Base At Dutch Harbor; Ships Bombed

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Under cover of fog and thick weather, Japanese landing forces have inched along the Aleutian island chain toward Alaska and now are establishing themselves at Kiska, which is only 585 miles from the United States Navy base at Dutch Harbor.

This was disclosed in a communique yesterday that told of the bombing of "a small force" of enemy ships in Kiska Harbor. Army fliers reported hitting one cruiser and sinking a transport.

At the same time it was announced in Ottawa that an enemy submarine, presumably Japanese, had shelled the Dominion government radio station at Estevan Point, Vancouver Island, Saturday night. The submarine pumped shells at the station for about half an hour but failed to do any damage.

While the number of ships actually in Kiska harbor may have been small, observers pointed out

Thousands Are Stranded Sunday in Eastern States as Stations Drain Supplies

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Abandonment of plans for nationwide gasoline rationing was predicted in some congressional quarters today as administration lieutenants reportedly gave the "go ahead" signal for a senatorial investigation of the entire situation.

Leaders were said to have agreed to support a proposal by Senator Maloney (D., Conn.) for a five-member special committee with a $50,000 appropriation for an immediate inquiry into shortages of gasoline and fuel oil, as well as the methods being employed to provide deliveries "for ordinary consumer use."

While this investigation was expected to deal primarily with conditions in the 17 eastern states now on short fuel rations, several senators predicted the inquiry would have a direct bearing on any future move to extend rationing to other sections.

There have been indications that expansion of the curtailment area might depend largely on the success or failure of the current scrap rubber collection, but Senators Connally (D., Tex.), Thomas (D., Okla.), and Wheeler (D., Mont.) said they did not believe there would be any nationwide rationing.

"I think the people are doing a better job now of conserving rubber by cutting down on the use of their cars than could be done by rationing," he said.

"In the good days of peace we thought democracy was the best form of government; now, having lost it temporarily, we know it is best, and we want it promptly restored."

Roosevelt Urges Ads Tell Story

Advertising Federation Could Promote Value of Democracy, Benefits of Liberty

Message Is Sent President Tells U. S. Governors Days Ahead Hold Sacrifices

New York, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that "the desire for liberty and freedom can be strengthened by reiteration of their benefits" through advertising.

In a message to the 38th annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America, the President said:

"It is obvious that there are many changes going on in your field. For the duration there will be a diminution in product advertising, but this does not mean an end of advertising."

"There are many messages which should be given the public through the use of advertising space. The desire for liberty and freedom can be strengthened by reiteration of their benefits."

"If the members of your organization will, wherever possible, assist in the war program and continue the splendid spirit of cooperation which they have shown during the past year, advertising will have a worthwhile and patriotic place in the nation's total war effort."

Bruce Barton, president of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, New York, declared in the convention keynote address that the American people were "having a taste of totalitarianism" by relinquishing many things and "are cheerfully determined to continue this self-denial for the duration of the war."

"But let any man or group of men after the war suggest that this regimentation be permanent, and he or they will find themselves promptly separated from public payroll," Barton added.

"In the good days of peace we thought democracy was the best form of government; now, having lost it temporarily, we know it is best, and we want it promptly restored."

Message Is Sent To Governors

Asheville, N. C., June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that within the days and months to come the peoples of this world would determine "by their work, by their sacrifices, and through the instrumentalities of their armed forces whether generations to come shall live and work as free men or slave states."

He made the statement in a message to the national conference of governors, in session here.

The text of the President's message:

"My dear Governors: The 'Governors' Conference meets this year at a most critical period in the history of our United States. Last year your conference dealt almost exclusively with problems of defense. A defense program which we all hoped would keep this country out of the maelstrom of world-wide war, but at the same time prepare us for anything that might happen in a world torn loose from its moorings."

"Despite our efforts, however, we are in—all in—a war which in its nature is a supreme struggle for survival. Within the days and months to come the peoples of this world will determine by their work, by their sacrifices, and through the instrumentalities of their armed forces whether generations to come shall live and work as free men or slave states."

"The states have been in the forefront of our war effort; they have perfected the organization of their defense councils to handle all civilian defense activities; they have established and operated a Selective Service system which

'Tired of Living,' Local Man Tells Officers; Takes Iodine

"I'm tired of living any longer," said Joseph Bernardo, 48, of 67 Ann street this morning to Officers Walter McDonough and James E. Welch, who had responded to a call that a man had drunk iodine. The officers promptly mixed some flour and water together and administered it to Bernardo and then called the Conner ambulance.

Bernardo was rushed to the Kingston Hospital where the two officers held him while an interne used a stomach pump on him successfully.

Later in the morning it was reported that Bernardo was in fair condition at the hospital.

The police received the call to the Ann street house at 8 o'clock and the call was picked up by the radio car in charge of Officers Welch and McDonough.

Committee to Pick Speaker Says U. S. Senator; Mauhs Is Patriotism Among Cited for Congress Outmoded Virtues

Democrats Hold Assembly, Also Select Vozdik, George and Martocci; Forman Elected

With the exception of naming a candidate for state senator, which was referred to the senatorial committee of the district, the unofficial Democratic county convention meeting in the municipal auditorium on Saturday afternoon recommended the following candidates to the enrolled Democratic voters of Ulster county:

Members of Congress: 27th congressional district—Sharon J. Mauhs of Cobleskill, Schoharie county.

Member of Assembly—Joseph E. Vozdik, Jr., of Saugerties. County Clerk—Herbert L. George of the town of Denning. District attorney—Francis T. Martocci of Kingston.

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Attorney Arthur E. Ewig "that the delegates elected to attend the Democratic state convention go unadorned and cast their vote for the candidate for governor selected by the convention."

Judge Bernard A. Culloton, county chairman, presided at the convention and in introducing Mr. Mauhs, who had been named as the party's candidate for Member of Congress, said that the Democratic congressional committee of the 29th Congressional District had met three times before they had decided on a candidate for Congress. He said that this district "had been most unfortunate in its representative in the halls of Congress."

Mr. Mauhs, who spoke at some length, assailed the "isolationist policies" of Congressman Lewis K. Rockefeller. He said that there had been too much opposition in this district to the war efforts of the nation, and "even Pearl Harbor has not changed this opposition."

"Congress," said Mr. Mauhs, "has failed to make a record for itself to become the great tribunal of the nation for the people know that what they hear is 90 per cent politics and not to be relied on."

Congress, he said, was too busy getting relatives on the nation's payrolls to do much else.

Had No Candidate
Herman DuBois of this city offered a resolution that the matter of selecting a candidate for state senator be referred to the senatorial committee of the 29th district. The resolution was adopted.

Ira Warren offered a resolution that the convention extend to the President "a renewed pledge of support and confidence, with good wishes for his continued health and our assurance of ultimate victory," which was adopted.

Mayor William F. Edelmutt addressed the convention briefly and said, "if you delegates do as good a job for the candidates this year as you did for the last year, victory is assured."

Attorney Joseph Campbell of Saugerties nominated Mr. Vozdik for member of Assembly. He said this his candidate in former years had been known as a football player.

Drive of African Corps Imperils Entire Campaign of United Nations in Middle East; Rome Says Six Anglo Generals Captured

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH (Associated Press War Editor)

With Tobruk and virtually all Eastern Libya regained and with the British eighth army beaten, leaving thousands of its number in the Tobruk trap, the Axis African corps rolled eastward today against Egypt, imperiling the entire position of the United Nations in the Middle East.

An enemy column evidently feeling out the weakened British line along the Egyptian frontier clashed with British mobile units a few miles from the border, the British reported, and Rome boasted that Italian-German troops were marching against Egypt.

Trying to block further reinforcement of the already superior African corps under Marshal Rommel, the RAF lashed desperately at Rommel's forward concentration points, landing fields, and land and sea transport.

Torpedo planes hit two large enemy supply ships, firing one, and struck an escort vessel, in a convoy south of Cape Bon, Tunisia, on the Sicily-Libya sea route, the R.A.F. reported.

Among other actions the R.A.F. "successfully attacked large numbers of enemy transport vehicles on the Sidi Azeiz landing ground," the air communique said.

British and Axis mobile columns already had clashed yesterday near Sidi Azeiz, 12 miles northwest of the Libyan-Egyptian border strongpoint, Fort Capuzzo.

The Axis' own heavy air forces leaped the British frontier positions to strike at defense communications along the Egyptian coast between Sidi Barrani and Fuka.

The white flag that fluttered out Sunday over Tobruk's shattered barricades as a final, mute concession that a superior Axis force had reconquered Libya marks a major turn in the strategems of war on two continents, if not in the whole world.

So extended and intertwined are causes and effects of this galling capitulation that military experts were hard-pressed to trace them all but it was obvious that the Axis triumph was forcing a drastic reshaping, if not postponement or abandonment, of some plans of the United Nations.

Rome Claims Captures
Rome, first to claim the capture of Tobruk with six British generals reported among the prisoners, proclaimed today:

"Occupation of Tobruk has been completed, and Axis troops are marching toward the Egyptian frontier."

The Hitler command credited a German mosquito boat flotilla with complete destruction of a formation of small British coastal craft and freighters fleeing from Tobruk yesterday morning.

One patrol boat, six coastal craft and a 4,500-ton freighter were sunk and three other coastal craft captured with 175 men aboard, the Berlin communique said.

Off the Dutch coast, the Germans said, three of Britain's mosquito boats were destroyed in an engagement last night with German minesweepers and several other British vessels were badly damaged.

The British forces which escaped the Axis sweep were digging in along the Egyptian frontier.

In the air war of Europe blow and counter-blow were struck by the British and Germans last night. The Germans bombing Southampton in their heaviest raid of three weeks. R.A.F. formations of 200 to 300 planes attacked the German naval base of Emden Saturday night.

By daylight today a large force had another go at the French coast in the Dunkerque region.

But until the wily German commander for North Africa, Marshal Rommel, starts an eastward offensive against Egypt to exploit his sweep of eastern Libya or barring some other unforeseen move by the Axis or the United Nations, the battle of Russia will hold the spotlight.

That colossal conflict entered its second year today.

The German high command announced capture of the last coastal fort in clearing the defenders from the northern side of Sevastopol, Russian Black Sea base, which has stood as a rearward threat to any renewal of Germany's drive toward the Caucasus. The Russians acknowledged that a wedge had been driven into the defenses there.

There was a roundabout report that the battle of Sevastopol had been carried into the streets of that historic Crimean city with fighting of "unprecedented violence."

How long human flesh could bear up against the frightful pressure of the numerically superior German and Rumanian besiegers of Sevastopol to be followed by the opening of an offensive against the Caucasus.

The Axis claimed capture of

Republican Slate Is Considered One Of Strongest Assembled in County

Highlighted by the presence of State Chairman of the Republican Party, Edwin F. Jaekle of Buffalo, the unofficial Republican county convention Saturday morning quickly settled down to business and under the guidance of County Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth, unanimously selected one of the strongest Republican tickets which has been assembled in this county in some time.

In a very businesslike manner the convention quickly approved the action of the Congressional Convention which a week ago recommended Jay LeFevre of New Paltz as the Republican party's choice in the 27th District. Then in turn endorsed State Senator Arthur H. Wicks to succeed himself for the office of senator from the 29th Senatorial District.

For Member of Assembly from Ulster county, the Hon. John F. Wadlin of Highland was named again.

County offices found selections equally easy when District Attorney N. LeVan Haver of Kingston was named to succeed himself and County Clerk Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties was re-named as the convention's choice for that office.

The convention was called to order at 11:30 by County Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth with James A. Simpson of Phoenicia reading the call.

Then a temporary roll call and the temporary roll of delegates was quickly made the permanent roll. However since there were no contests there was no need for

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 22 (AP)—The stock market, in addition to its other troubles, today was unsettled by some of the most bearish war news of the year to date.

The direction was downward from the start. Activity expanded somewhat and, while selling pressure was scant, declines of fractions to three points were widespread near the fourth hour.

Contributing to the backward shift was the fall of Tobruk, the critical position of the Russians at Sevastopol and enemy shelling of west coast territory.

Bonds and commodities were a trifle shaky.

In the forefront of the share retreat were rails, motors, mail orders and wire chip specialties. Rails, rubbers, oils and coppers were narrow.

Prominent sliders included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Westinghouse, du Pont, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, United Aircraft and U. S. Gypsum.

Axis Pushes Toward Egypt

28,000 prisoners in Tobruk, a sizeable chunk of the eighth British imperial army which the United Nations had been counting on to shield the western flank of Alexandria, Suez and the entire middle east position.

Moreover, the latest Italian communique announced that captured equipment included 100 tanks, several hundred guns and hundreds of motor vehicles.

Recent Convoys Included

It was probable that the booty included shipments recently conveyed at considerable cost into Tobruk when the British still hoped the port could be held, as hitherto, as a thorn in the flank of the Axis drive eastward toward the Egyptian frontier.

But Tobruk's fall could not be assessed fully in terms of prisoners and tanks captured. It was more likely that it had spiked allied hopes for a second front in Europe this year and had prolonged the war.

The Axis seemed to have won for itself the complete initiative in the European-African theatre and no one could say that a crisis had not been reached.

British sources agreed that the next few weeks would decide whether Germany could be whipped this year or next, or would be able to fight on for years. The last would be a distinct possibility if Rommel could roll eastward against Suez while the Germans in Russia cut into the Caucasus.

The Axis power in Libya obviously had been under-estimated and seemed that only by a diversion of formidable British-American resources to the battle of Africa could be contained in Libya or held to Egypt's western desert.

A mighty allied effort, at the expense of a stroke elsewhere thus seemed imperative if the Germans are to be blocked from effecting supply contact with the Japanese on the Indian Ocean by forcing of the Landbridge, Asia Minor.

Falls Back To Border

The battered remainder of the British Eighth Army had fallen back to strong points along the Egyptian-Libyan border and the British mobile forces in contact with an enemy column yesterday about 12 miles northwest of the border stronghold, Fort Cappuzzo.

"There is no further news from Tobruk which must be presumed to have fallen," the communique added.

A section of the London Press started calling on Prime Minister Churchill to come home from his strategy talks with President Roosevelt to render an accounting on Libya. Some observers predicted a shakeup in Britain's top command, perhaps the return of General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, who invaded Libya in late 1940 with only 30,000 men after routing an Italian invasion in Egypt.

Felicitations on Russia's valiant battle poured into Moscow on this anniversary. Included was one from Churchill to Premier Joseph Stalin which said:

"You can mean in our power."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull in a message to Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav said that Hitler's plans for world conquest had been frustrated by Russia's heroic resistance which had won "the admiration of liberty-loving peoples of the world."

Mr. Kirton has served the Franklin Street Church as its pastor. During the four years that he has been in charge of the church he has been very active in the religious life of Kingston.

All refreshments will be served. There will be free transportation at the church beginning at 1 o'clock to the picnic grounds and back to the city during the day.

nationwide rationing of gasoline," Connolly told reporters.

Thomas said he was convinced that there was no need for limiting gasoline sales except in the eastern seaboard and predicted that no such action would be taken. Wheeler said protests from all sections of the country were so great it was his judgment no nationwide rationing order ever would be issued.

Thousands Are Stranded

(By the Associated Press)

Dry gasoline pumps stranded thousands of motorists along the Atlantic seaboard yesterday as summer's first week-end brought an increase in travel and exhausting demands on filling stations.

As hurried dealers hung out "no gas" signs, drivers with empty tanks were forced to leave their cars parked at the roadside or have them towed to parking lots and garages.

Philadelphia was hardest hit with all of its 3,500 stations closed by mid-afternoon Sunday. Many motorists, including tourists, were stranded and some car workers were unable to get to their plants.

A. Reed Engle, president of the Associated Gasoline Dealers of Philadelphia, said the shortage was caused by doubling the value of units on ration cards to six gallons without increasing the supply to stations. "We're (the operators) taking plenty of abuse," he said.

The unit value on the cards was doubled by the government in order to take care of a two-week extension of the rationing period, originally scheduled to end July 1. The new rationing period will begin July 15.

In Washington only 11 of 1,000 stations remained open and the American Automobile Association was flooded with towing calls from gasless motorists.

Not all drivers took their plight in good grace. Dealers in some sections of New York's Westchester county had to call police to quiet disappointed motorists. In Union City, N. J., police dispersed drivers left parked in line when supplies ran out.

Some of the more patient parked their cars in front of stations with orders to fill tanks when supplies were delivered. Most of the dealers expected to receive their allotments for the third 10 days of the month today or tomorrow.

The largest crowd of the season at beaches near Jacksonville, Fla., indicated that residents were economizing on gasoline on week days in order to enjoy a brief week-end fling.

Midtown New York's filling stations were reported "bone dry" but the city's millions took subways and buses to cooler spots.

Meanwhile, 11 New England congressmen recommended to Price Administrator Leon Henderson that vacationists be given supplemental gasoline rationing books calling for enough fuel to take them to and from resorts.

Another Negligence Case Opens in Supreme Court

An action dating back to 1938 was taken up in supreme court this morning for trial before Justice Schirck and a jury. Louis Costello of Glasco brings an action against Mary E. Smith and R. Rodney Smith of Greene county to recover damages resulting from a collision near Saugerties. Joseph M. Campbell appeared for the plaintiff and A. J. Cook for the defendant.

The plaintiff claims he was driving north toward Saugerties and was about to turn left into the drive of a relative when his car was struck by the Smith car, which was being driven south by Mr. Smith. The plaintiff claims he had turned left after looking north and seeing no car coming and claims he was practically off the road when the collision took place.

Smith, a farmer, claims he was coming south on a straight stretch of road and proceeding about 50 miles an hour, when the plaintiff's car crossed the roadway. He claims he was unable to avoid the Costello car. Defendant claims the visibility was good, the day clear and there was no reason for the plaintiff's action.

Reports His Car Stolen; Later Falls Off Porch

Joseph Schiskey of 47 Hudson street had an exciting time early Sunday morning when at 1 o'clock the police received a telephone call from him that his automobile had been stolen from in front of Brown's Tavern on Abel street, and two hours later the police received another telephone call that he had fallen off the porch of his home.

The police according to the first call learned that Schiskey's auto had not been stolen but had been hidden by some of his friends to prevent him from driving it home. Later Schiskey was taken home in his own car driven by a friend.

He had been home about an hour when at 3:20 o'clock that morning the police received a call that he had tumbled off the porch of his home and was injured. Schiskey was removed to the Benedictine Hospital in the corner ambulance and later was discharged. It was found he had not been hurt seriously.

A vote by roll call on any of the selections.

Mrs. A. H. Wicks, wife of Senator Wicks, with Mrs. Ella Eltinge at the piano, sang the national anthem and the order of business immediately got under way.

Harry H. Flemming, surrogate of Ulster county, read a tribute to the memory of the late Justice G. D. E. Hasbrouck, who for several years and until he was elected to the bench, had been county chairman. The convention adopted the resolution offered by Mr. Flemming and State Chairman Jaekle, referring to the dependability of Ulster county to produce the vote and urging the committeemen again to get out the vote this fall.

State Chairman Jaekle was introduced by Chairman Elsworth, who said never had the state been represented by a more energetic leader than now. He said Mr. Jaekle, who is also county chairman in Erie county, had brought to the party energy, honesty, integrity and a love for the party such as none before him had ever exceeded.

for the next two years. That man, of course, as you all know, is the present incumbent—just a word or two about our senator's record, for it is indeed one that any man might well be justly proud of. He first entered the Senate in January, 1927, and has ever since served this senatorial district with credit and distinction to his party, to his constituents and to himself. His knowledge of governmental affairs quickly earned him the esteem of his senatorial colleagues. Today, as chairman of the senate finance committee, he holds one of the most important official positions in the government of our great Empire State. In this capacity he has intrusted to him and must solve intricate fiscal affairs of a great state and that is a tremendous responsibility. He is also a member of the State War Council which is a most vital group while we are at war, since it is in complete charge of all civilian defense activities in our state. He is a member of the post-war planning commission, whose job it is to plan our post-war economy. Just yesterday he was elected chairman of the state economy committee, which will investigate expenditures in certain departments in our state government. These many recognitions of his ability are a measure of the reputation he enjoys in the senate. We all know our senator for his fighting spirit. We know him for his sincerity and willingness to listen to our problems. We know that he has demonstrated time and time again that he truly represents the people of this district regardless of race, color or creed and regardless of position in life. Summing it all up, I might say that our senator is the man I now place in nomination as the living symbol and true representative of democracy. I give you Arthur H. Wicks for the office of state senator for the next two years.

Supervisor Charles F. Kaiser of Ellenville, speaking on the resolution, referred to Senator Wicks' record of performance in the Senate and said that his reputation as a legislator had become state wide. Senator Wicks now holds one of the most influential positions in the state, he said, because of his long service and because of his ability and knowledge of government. The resolution endorsing Senator Wicks was unanimously adopted and Chairman Elsworth named Mrs. Pearl Renn of the 10th ward and Augustus Hotaling of Esopus a committee to escort the Senator to the platform.

Senator Wicks thanked the convention and his many friends for the nice things which had been said about him, and said he would endeavor to live up to the remarks. He said that for him there was a note of sadness to the convention since a familiar face, one which had graced the convention for many years was absent. He referred to Thomas McManus of Marlborough.

Ninth Appearance
"This is the ninth time I have appeared before you," said Senator Wicks. "Each time you have sent me back until now I am the senior senator in point of service," he continued. He promised to maintain the trust and confidence which the people have placed in him and said that other people's problems were his problems. "My door is open to you all at any time for conference or advice," he said and he promised that if elected again he would continue to represent all of the people whether they be Republican or Democrat and work for the interest of all of the people of the state.

Senator Wicks said there was great opportunity this year for a change in the administration in Albany. He urged that every effort be made to elect a Republican governor and said that many of the State Departments were top-heavy with political appointments. As head of the committee which has just been appointed to investigate into possibilities of greater economy in state operation, he said the committee would go into every department in an effort to ascertain true conditions and bring about greater economy to the taxpayers. He said that perhaps thousands of dollars, or even millions, might be saved without dulling the efficiency of the state government.

In closing he urged the voters not to let the other side confuse the issues this fall. All are set on 100 per cent war effort but he cautioned the voters not to become confused and allow the war effort to be confused with should go back to the Republican column and pledges his support to the entire county and state ticket.

Next came nominations for county clerk and John B. Sterley of the Second Ward placed the name of Robert A. Snyder before the convention. He pointed out the requirements and outlined the numerous duties of the office. Mr. Sterley referred to the career of John A. Snyder, father of our present county clerk, who served his town as supervisor and as county treasurer and also to the political career of Robert A. Snyder, grandfather of County Clerk Robert A. Snyder, who served as member of Assembly and sheriff of Ulster county. Mr. Sterley referred to the ability of the present incumbent, said he had given to the people of the county the very best of his ability and referred to the efficient manner in which the office had been conducted under the personal direction of County Clerk Snyder.

Herman Cohen of Wawarsing seconded the nomination, saying that as an attorney he knew of the prompt and efficient service which had been rendered under Mr. Snyder's administration.

Cecilia Pillsworth of the Seventh ward and John W. Lent of Saugerties were named a committee to escort the candidate to the platform following his unanimous selection.

Mr. Snyder said that almost three years ago he had been nominated and at that time had pledged to conduct the office for all of the people of the county and to attempt to maintain the high standard of efficiency set by his predecessors in office. He had endeavored to live up to that promise and had sought by his acts and deeds to justify the confidence which had been bestowed upon him by the people of the county at the polls. He pledged his continued endeavors to carry out the wishes of the voters and urged all Republicans to get out and work for the election of the entire Republican ticket this fall.

Following the selection of a ticket Chairman Elsworth called on the convention for selection of delegates and alternates to the state convention. Mr. Merritt of Lloyd offered the list of names which was unanimously adopted as was the list of delegates to the judicial convention presented by Dorris Monroe of Kingston. Ed Ashby offered a resolution naming a committee on vacancies and Donald Tinnie of Port Jervis presented names for the state committee. These names all appeared in Saturday's issue of The Freeman.

Prior to adjourning, Chairman Elsworth urged all members of the convention to support the U. S. O. drive in order that Ulster county might go over the top in the drive to raise funds for men in the service.

Secretary Simpson urged that every effort be made to get the soldier vote. He said every soldier who leaves should be impressed with the necessity of securing an absentee blank and casting his vote this fall.

Purple Heart Elects Officers at Amsterdam

Amsterdam, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—John Galuski, Syracuse, was elected commander of the New York department of the Military Order of the Purple Heart Sunday as the organization closed its annual two-day convention and selected Troy for the 1943 meeting.

Other officers chosen were Carl E. Jones, Herkimer, and Frank Pingitore, Amsterdam, vice commanders; Charles C. Sapp, New York city, finance officer; Edgar L. Grose, Herkimer, historian; Harold M. Vernon, Springfield Garden, L. I. judge advocate; Albert Lambert, New York city, chaplain, and Benedetto Sogro, New Hyde Park, L. I. sergeant at arms.

Members of the organization are American soldiers wounded in action. The purple heart was established as a badge of military merit by George Washington in 1782, and revived by President Herbert Hoover in 1932.

Nazis Have Plenty of Air Strength in Greece, Crete

Alexandria, June 22 (AP)—Commander Thanos Spanides of a Greek submarine raider famed for exploits against the Axis reported today after his return to port that "the Nazis seem to have lots of aircraft on Crete and in Greece."

"They are digging big underground hangars into the sides of the mountains in Crete and improving and extending the Maleme airfield," the commander said. (Crete has frequently been mentioned as an obvious springboard for any Axis offensive in the middle east.)

The commander said he obtained his information from Greeks rescued by his undersea raider from sailing vessels in the Mediterranean.

Commander Spanides said he had destroyed five Axis auxiliary vessels by ramming and gunfire on his most recent tour of the Mediterranean. In the Greek-Italian war Commander Spanides' submarine sank three large Italian troopships within a few minutes in the Adriatic.

MOTORISTS NEEDED TO MAKE UNIQUE GAS SAVING TEST

Every patriotic New York citizen interested in saving gasoline for Victory will welcome the achievement of an American inventor. Already thousands of car owners are using his invention and they report gas savings of up to 30% as well as more power, quicker pickup and faster acceleration. The device, called the Vacu-matic, operates on the super-charge principle. It is entirely automatic and allows the motor to breathe. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617-2413 W. Girl Enters 150th Week Of Uninterrupted Sleep

Albany, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—Delicate seven-year-old Doreen Shook began today her 150th week of uninterrupted sleep.

Physicians see "no hope" of her awakening from the slumber, an unknown form of encephalitis, which struck suddenly August 14, 1939. The gentle, deathlike sleep, they say, has destroyed the pretty child's brain cells.

Nurses at the Hospital for Incurables keep flowers in Doreen's room, prop a toy panda bear by her side, arrange blue ribbons in her flaxen hair.

They feed her three times a day—corned beef hash, milk, ice cream—and she grows almost normally for a girl of her age.

"Sometimes," a nurse said, "I think she hears me as if she were in a dream and I were at great distance. She looks as though she wants to speak but can't. Often she cries, though."

Although the child's blue eyes open every morning, and the pupils respond to light, they are sightless.

Since the sickness they have never seen her mother, who made weekly trips to Doreen's side until her death in March; or her father, who continues the visits though all hope for recovery is gone.

Over Fifty Years Ago Football Came to Turkey

Fifty years ago two young Englishmen, both members of a large family long settled in Turkey, set out to teach the youth of Moda, then a small village on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus, to play association football, says the Times of London. At first they made little progress. The Turks would not join them, for they were somewhat shy of the mad English, and they went in fear of the Turkish police, who had been taught that three or more persons gathered together only to plot against the Sultan. There were, however, a number of Greek boys in the village, who in the eyes of the local police were beneath suspicion. It was from them that the first teams were formed.

Not content with teaching the rudiments of the association football, the same two Englishmen collected their brothers and cousins and with the Greeks formed a rugby team with which they challenged Smyrna, where lived another branch of the English family, equally prolific. For some years an annual rugby match followed, the Moda team gaining the ascendancy in the later games, thanks, it is said, to the presence among their forwards of two Turkish wrestlers, one of whom was champion of Turkey. But neither Turks nor Greeks took kindly to rugby football, and it was abandoned in favor of the association game, which the Turks now began to play in many parts of the country.

Have You a Real Garnet?

Although every garnet in the H. N. Higginbotham Hall of Gems and Jewels at the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago is a genuine garnet, not one of them would pass the drastic test described by Johannes de Cuba in the Fifteenth century. The owner of a garnet ring, while wearing the ring, was to disrobe and after smearing his body with honey lie down where there were wasps and flies, says Field Museum News. If flies or wasps refused to light on his body for the honey the garnet was genuine. Any one who knows anything about wasps and flies knows there was little chance of this proving garnet genuine.

Members of the organization are American soldiers wounded in action. The purple heart was established as a badge of military merit by George Washington in 1782, and revived by President Herbert Hoover in 1932.

GOOD-BYE BATTLESHIP

An era of national defense ends with the apparent decision of the United States government to build no more battleships. No rule has been made to that effect, but several battleships already planned have been eliminated from the new building program in favor of airplane-carriers.

Cruisers and destroyers will still be built: the program calls for 500,000 tons of the former and 900,000 tons of the latter. But the great dreadnaughts with their heavy armament, behemoths of the sea, will pass away as did their ancient predecessors of the animal kingdom, the dinosaurs. And for the same reason—because they are unwieldy in combat and too easily destroyed by smaller craft.

It is said that a little animal, not much bigger than a rat, the torpedo of the Mesozoic Age, destroyed the dinosaur. It was a lively little beast, which could get at the "terrible lizard" and bore into his vitals before he could turn around. The battleship suffers the same handicap from the modern torpedo.

So Uncle Sam is to have nearly 100 more carriers, which will carry thousands of warplanes, very much as hunters in the Middle Ages carried trained hawks or falcons and launched them at their prey from horseback. Really, it's surprising, when you start thinking about it, how "the more things change, the more they remain the same." That is, in principle. The action is much quicker now and the results are far more effective.

SOUVENIRS

What the drop in traveling will do to the hotel business, everybody knows. Looking for crumbs of comfort, the hotel managers may find a reduction in their count of missing silver and linen. Fewer guests at least mean fewer souvenir-takers. This habit of stealing minor pieces of property as remembrances of trips taken is a curious habit. It certainly is not due to a mere thief's desire to take articles of value whenever he can get away with them. It is more on the order of a boyish trick, though hotels do not think it very funny.

A New York firm has found a way to capitalize this childishness. It sells towels marked "The White House," "Alcatraz" and the like, which ought to give the household guest a real thrill. They may create the same furore that a few years ago was caused by the appearance on the streets of automobile license plates marked "China," "Egypt," "Turkey." These, too, could be obtained for a moderate price, and were very impressive. Impressive, that is, to all but the police, who found them annoying and brought about their discontinuance. Even if they had not done so, it is safe to say that no one in his senses would drive about nowadays with a license plate marked "Japan."

These innocent practices (not the stealing, but the buying of towels with unusual marks) enliven life, and help to keep some people young.

THE LAST CRUSADE

How many Americans really grasp the greatness and uniqueness of their country? America is by nature and choice the friend of all the world, ready always and everywhere to grasp a friendly hand. Even now, when forced by its own benevolence to make war upon nations that have turned to crime, it does so only to restore peace, opportunity and civilization.

America seeks no special advantage, but is spending today $200,000,000,000 and the lives of tens of thousands of its sons, to make a better world for everybody. All that it asks in return is what civilized men want for themselves and their children.

America is the Don Quixote of nations, a knight-errant going forth to redress wrongs in the spirit of the valiant knights of the Middle Ages, but with modern methods and equipment, not counting the cost or the labor. It will feel amply repaid if the purpose is achieved.

Is this wise or foolish? A cynic would say the latter. But the cynics grow silent as the quest proceeds and stricken nations begin to feel that the big job will be done.

This is the greatest crusade of all time. If it wins, it will be the victory not of a nation or a group of nations, but of all Mankind.

BOOKS AND WAR

"Pickwick" out of print in England! The most popular story by England's most popular novelist, Charles Dickens, is for the time being not to be had in the bookstores. It is like being unable to buy "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in this country, or at one time "Ben Hur," or lately "Gone With the Wind."

There are two explanations. One is the great demand for the book among English prisoners, who, goodness knows, need something amusing and cheering. Mr. Pickwick in the course of his career was in prison, yet did good there and lived to get out. That must be a consoling idea for prisoners today.

Another reason for its scarcity goes deeper—the great shortage of paper of all kinds in England. With hardly one per cent of the available paper allotted to books, many fine works must become unavailable. It is just one more example of the blight that the Nazis are inflicting on the finer things of life.

GLORIOUS PAGES

Midway joins with the Coral Sea as another glorious page in American history. The last war added to the book the names of Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne—land battles all. Though our present triumphs are naval, those of the future will not necessarily be so. Land action is looming up in this war, and in it our soldiers will play a large part. Though no one as yet knows where, it is not a bad guess that Brest, St. Nazaire and other towns on the French coast will soon be American household words.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

LIVER AND GALL BLADDER

What may be hard to understand is why fat foods must be avoided in liver and gall bladder disturbances yet it is known that fat food helps to empty the gall bladder promptly, thus preventing gall bladder symptoms such as pain and gas formation.

While it is true that fat foods—butter, cream, bacon—help empty the gall bladder, it requires but a small amount of these fat foods to do this, and eating more fat foods than the liver can handle properly brings about the sluggishness of liver and gall bladder with the usual symptoms arising from this sluggishness—pain in upper right side of abdomen, gas pressure, bloating and sometimes nausea and vomiting.

When man was created his body was, and still is, covered with huge masses of muscle. These muscles were not meant to simply carry him about and reach for his food. These huge muscles were meant for work, to help man hunt for food, carry burdens, fight or run as necessity arose. To keep these huge muscles healthy, man was meant to use them every day. And to keep these muscles nourished man was meant to eat all kinds of food including fat foods.

What we find, however, is that man eats plenty of food but because modern life makes it unnecessary to work or carry burdens, the circulation of the blood in the liver is not stimulated to action as much as it should be and so enough bile is not manufactured to take care of the fats and sugars eaten. This unneeded fat and sugar is not used up for energy and in many individuals is stored away as fat.

Bile is needed for other purposes than making fats fit to be digested. Bile destroys harmful organisms and stimulates the large bowel thus preventing constipation.

An active liver manufacturing bile in large quantities gives a buoyant feeling, whereas a sluggish liver makes one discouraged or even a "quitter."

As man was meant to use his muscles, take deep breaths and bend his body, simple daily exercise—walking, bending, deep breathing—will stimulate the flow of bile in liver and keep gall bladder emptying regularly.

Liver and Gall Bladder Disturbance

Many cases of liver and gall bladder disturbance are helped by simple diet suggestions. Send now for Dr. Barton's new leaflet entitled "Diet Suggestions in Liver and Gall Bladder Disturbance." To obtain it just send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Barton, Post Office Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., and ask for this leaflet by name.

TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP....

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Former Alderman Elmer E. Swart of the Second ward today called attention to an error I had made in a sketch, written the other day in which I recalled that the brick pavement on Broadway was laid during the administration of Roscoe Irwin as mayor.

Mr. Swart said that the pavement was laid during the administration of Walter P. Crane as mayor, and work was started in 1908. He said that it was during the Irwin administration that followed the Crane regime that the brick pavement was laid in Albany avenue, between Broadway and Clinton avenue.

As I recall it, Mr. Swart, for years active in the Republican ranks, served as alderman from the Second ward from 1906 to 1910.

Mr. Swart was one of the first members of the Common Council when it was reduced from 18 to 13 members in 1908. Mr. Swart recalls that previous to 1908 the council was made up of 18 members, but that the city charter was amended so that the new council, which assumed office in 1908, was made up of 13 aldermen, one from each of the thirteen wards in the city.

Among the men who comprised the first aldermanic body of 13 members were such well known men as Charles Schermerhorn of the First ward, Mr. Swart of the Second, Artemus Van Gaasbeek of the Third; George Zeeh of the Seventh, William McCullough of the Eighth, John Remus of the Ninth, E. Otis Van Aken of the Tenth, Frank Mills of the Eleventh and Thomas Cusack of the Twelfth.

Mr. Schermerhorn for years was a merchant tailor with shop on Fair street, and he was also a supervisor of the First ward for several terms.

Messrs. Swart, Van Aken and McCullough were widely known building contractors.

At the time the old Ulster & Delaware railroad was relocated when the Ashokan reservoir was built, Alderman McCullough had the contract to erect the new railroad stations in the reservoir country.

I also recall Alderman George Zeeh, who for years was proprietor of old Washington Hall, which some years ago was demolished by fire, and on the site of the old hall now stands the modern packing plant of the Forsts on Abel street.

Frank Mills served during the Crane administration as superintendent of streets, and Thomas Cusack as plumbing inspector during the Democratic administrations. Mr. Cusack was a well known contracting plumber.

The names of the other members of the 1908-10 council have slipped my memory.

Hoover-Gibson Book Might Prove Most Valuable Volume of Modern World's Publications

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 22.—Every summary of its carefully arranged contents. The book is well enough compiled to become a text-book in every college and school in the country and for every civic organization that wishes to study the problems of the peace so that American public opinion can start to prepare for discussion of peace terms.

It would be a fine thing if Messrs. Hoover and Gibson could find their way clear to donate all royalties received from the book to the American Red Cross or some other relief organization so that not the slightest taint of commercial gain could be associated with promoting a wide circulation of the volume. For it is important that American public opinion know the facts about the last peace treaty and the post-war years lest careless and superficial statement build up a barrier to the acceptance of the terms which President Roosevelt and his associates may some day propose.

It would be a fine gesture if the Roosevelt administration could indicate to the people that the new volume was worth reading for historical background, at least, if not for the very constructive opinions contained therein. It is a book which proponents of super-government on the one hand as well as extreme isolationism, on the other, will not agree with, yet it is a book which suggests the starting points for a healing peace and a practical method of enforcement.

Broadly speaking the book favors an international organization to enforce the peace and particularly that military force be maintained by the victors till reconstruction of what might be termed practical idealism. The Hoover-Gibson book will help Europeans as well as Americans to educate themselves on the problems of peace that lie ahead—military, political, economic, financial and humanitarian.

"You Don't Have to Exercise"

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M. D.

The sight of a middle-aged man or woman deliberately forcing himself through 6 sets of tennis or 36 holes of golf nauseates Dr. Peter J. Steincrohn. Back in Hartford, Conn., Dr. Steincrohn has built himself quite a reputation as the foe of exercise for people past forty, and with the publication of "You Don't Have to Exercise," his field is likely to enlarge considerably.

At that, the title is misleading—what Dr. Steincrohn really says in the book is that you should not exercise after 40. Up to age of 30, he believes, men and women both can exercise as much as they choose, provided there is no organic reason against it, such as a weak heart or an infected lung. Moderate exercise is not harmful, he says, at thirty-five. But then one should begin to taper off sharply, and for the average man the early 40's should begin a period of energy conservation. The pipes may be in good enough condition, and the subject's general health may be perfect, but the machine has been functioning 40 years, and no matter how well it is preserved, it is a 40-year-old mechanism and deserves care and freedom from strain.

Most of us, Dr. Steincrohn declares, deliberately work toward death at sixty-five. He thinks that there are some men who really like violent exercise at any age, and to these he merely nods, warning in his hand that they must be prepared to wear out too early, unless they are actually supermen. But most of the middle-aged exercisers are driven to it by the feeling that it is necessary for health, that stopping indicates "giving up," that their figure will slump, that it is the "beginning of the end." That is nonsense, according to the doctor.

Your figure, male or female, will not soften and droop. It will actually be better, he says, provided you will pay attention to posture. You can reduce weight without using any of the faddish diets, too, and with no danger at all. You simply figure out your requirements in calories, and eat them. Dr. Steincrohn lists four antidotes for the "disease" of exercise in middle age; good posture (which is a mild form of exercise), adequate sleep (you really do need more than five hours), intelligently planned breaks in your routine (that is vacations), and finally a hobby.

If you must exercise, walk two miles a day, and/or garden. And be your age gracefully.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—The capital hasn't lost its sense of humor. There is, for example, the story of Leonard Herman, Department of Agriculture clerk who for two years has been the cause for a lot of leg-pulling among the agriculture experts.

Every year, the department employs get up a pool on the wheat referendum votes; each employee who participates chipping in for the privilege of guessing what percentage of the farmer votes will be for continuation of the wheat control program.

Last year, young Herman walked off with the pot and this year duplicated his 1941 feat, making him in all some $40 richer. The reason for the ribbing of the experts is that Leonard Herman is a Brooklyn lad, born and reared in Dodge town, and by his own admission wouldn't know a wheatfield from a Louisiana cane-brake. It's just that to any one who has spent his youth trying to figure out what the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to do next, figuring out what the farmers are going to do is as elementary as two times two.

One of the better yarns circulated is that which Rep. Luther Patrick, the Alabama who was defeated for reelection tells on himself. Explaining that while other congressmen like to relax by fishing, hunting or playing golf, he enjoys most going over to one of the radio stations and doing a little broadcasting. And that's how come that Patrick told the yarn that he bormerged.

"I had gone to the broadcasting station one afternoon just after the house had adjourned for the day. I had what I thought was a very funny story. I said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, we passed some kind of an appropriation bill up there a while ago. I voted for it. You know how it is with congressmen, we vote a bill out today and then buy a paper tomorrow to see what it was, and maybe vote it back in again."

"I thought that was a pretty clever joke. But they had a record of that broadcast down in my district and they played it all over the district and on the radio until I had nightmares about it. It sure wasn't funny then."

It took a young War Production Board attorney to prove to his elders that the WPB is bound around with far too much red tape.

The young lawyer, disgusted at the number of officials who have to approve every memorandum issued by the office and doubting if many of them read all the paragraphs they initiated as okay, decided to test his theory. Into the middle of a long memo on cotton duck cloth, he wrote a paragraph about Donald Duck. Fourteen officials initiated the memorandum as okay before the fifteenth detected the presence of the irritable Donald D.

Masonic War Fund Gifts to Red Cross

New York—William F. Strang of Rochester, grand master of the Masons of the State of New York, will present seven ambulances, four mobile canteens and three mobile disaster service units to Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, Saturday morning, June 27, on the Mall in front of the New York City Hall.

These fourteen units, costing more than $25,000, have been purchased out of the $100,000 Masonic War Chest Fund which has been raised by 1,037 lodges in New York through one dollar contributions from members. The mobile disaster units are the first to be manufactured in the United States and are entirely new both as to rolling stock and design. The equipment, with the exception of Standard Army Ambulances, is new and the first of its kind to be acquired by the American Red Cross. The three units will be assigned to the North Hudson Chapter of the American Red Cross, Union City, N. J.; the Westchester County Chapter, White Plains, N. Y., and the Baltimore, Md., chapter.

The seven ambulances, each equipped with four stretchers, will go to the Cayuga Co. Chapter, Auburn; North Suffolk County Chapter, Huntington; North Shore Chapter, Flushing; Nassau County Chapter, Mineola; the Burlington County Chapter, Beverly, N. J.; the Cape May, N. J., Chapter and the Wicomico County Chapter, Salisbury, Md. Two of the mobile canteens will go to the Brooklyn Chapter and one each to the Portland Me., and the Charleston, S. C. Chapters of the American Red Cross.

John F. Dempsey of New York is general chairman of the Masonic War Chest which was inaugurated during the term of the retiring grand master, Henry C. Turner, former president of the Board of Education of the City of New York. Funds in the War Chest will be used for the relief of Masonic war casualties and their dependents; to supply ambulances, canteens, disaster service units and similar equipment to the American Red Cross and to aid other War Welfare agencies. Members of the executive committee includes Mr. Dempsey, Charles W. Froessel of Jamaica; Gay H. Brown of Utica; Richard R. Rowlands of Schenectady and John B. Mullan of Rochester.

The presentation ceremony will be attended by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia and other city officials as well as by officials from Masonic lodges, the American Red Cross and the New York County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Following the presentation the units will be driven to the chapters to which they have been assigned by members of the Red Cross Motor Corps. Each unit will bear the inscription "Donated by the Masons of the State of New York."

Priorities Analyst Here Wednesday

Five Kingston men's clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Uptown Business Men, Lions and Central Businessmen's have jointly sponsored the formation of a new association, "The Priority Club of Kingston," to enable local manufacturers engaged in war and essential civilian production to make use of the traveling priorities "clinics" of War Production Board.

First "clinic" under the new sponsorship will be held Wednesday, June 24, between 9 and 5 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, with Jesse W. Sanger, priorities executive of the New York Priorities Department, W. P. B., present, along with a W. P. B. engineer to talk with local businessmen seeking possible war work.

"Today, more than ever, it is vital for manufacturers to obtain the latest information on priorities, so that there will be the least possible interference with their business," said Mr. Sanger. "With more than 240 priority orders in existence affecting materials and machinery, correct information on provisions of priority regulation not only assists the whole war effort, but serves to give a business enterprise a stability it might not otherwise have during our present period of shortages."

The visiting priorities executive expressed enthusiasm at the manner in which all five Kingston clubs had created a separate organization to publicize the importance of priorities.

"As far as I know, the Kingston Priority Club is the first such non-governmental group in the country, organized to bring manufacturers together for priority information. Today when America faces the critical problem caused by the curtailment of many of our sources of raw materials by our enemies, it is highly vital for businessmen to learn what materials or substitutes they may still obtain, and how they should go about it. It helps the war effort —and helps themselves." Mr. Sanger pointed out.

Kingston area businessmen seeking appointment with Mr. Sanger and the W. P. B. engineer are invited to make their arrangements through Wilson Boice, secretary of the Ulster County Automobile Club, in the Governor Clinton Hotel. He is assigning one of his staff to handle the appointments. The telephone number is 3305.

It should be emphasized that Mr. Sanger is not authorized to give priority ratings, nor can the W. P. B. engineer award contracts.

Evaporated Milk Is Subject of Research

Geneva, N. Y.—An exceptionally soft curd characterizes "re-made" evaporated milk which is evaporated milk to which water has been added, according to findings in the dairy laboratory at the State Experiment Station here where tests have been under way to evaluate the curd strength of evaporated milk as commonly used in the home. The results of the studies have been reported by Prof. J. C. Marquardt in a recent issue of the Journal of Dairy Science.

During 1941, more than six billion pounds of milk were utilized in the production of 3,165,906,000 pounds of evaporated milk, representing a 50 per cent increase over the past five years, according to Professor Marquardt. Because of the increased use of evaporated milk, research was undertaken in the Station dairy laboratory on the curd strength and other properties of the product at the request of the Evaporated Milk Association.

In these studies it was demonstrated that re-made evaporated milk as generally used as a food for infants has a curd strength that complies with the standards set by the American Medical Association for the curd strength for soft curd milk. In fact, re-made evaporated milk was found to have a softer curd than other types of milk designed for infant feeding, such as homogenized milk and so-called special milks.

Re-made evaporated milk will not separate into layers of varying composition upon standing as does whole untreated milk. This is regarded as an important advantage as it insures uniformity when used in the home. Through the cooperation of the Evaporated Milk Association, samples of evaporated milk of comparable composition were obtained from many sections of the United States, thus aiding greatly in the conduct of the experiments.

Central School Law Is Discussed By Dr. E. E. Cole

Van Hornesville — The development of the central rural school since he came to the State Education Department in 1926, one year after the passage of the central school law, was discussed this afternoon by Dr. Ernest E. Cole, Commissioner of Education, in his address at the commencement exercises at the Van Hornesville Central School.

He pointed out that during that time, although centralization is permissive and not mandatory, there have been laid out and organized 296 central schools composed of 4,099 independent districts. He called this "the most outstanding accomplishment in the line of education for rural people ever to occur in this or any other state."

Illustrative of the enriched program offered in even the smallest of these schools, Doctor Cole disclosed that "we recently made a study of 18 central schools selected at random and located in 16 counties. These schools have enrollments ranging from 250 pupils to 508 pupils. All but two of the schools are located in agricultural communities. These two are in residential centers near industrial areas. Of the 18 schools, fourteen offer courses in agriculture. Seventeen offer courses in home-making. Fourteen offer courses in industrial arts. All offer courses in music. Twelve give instruction in art. Seventeen provide vocational training in commerce. All provide excellent guidance for their pupils."

"It thus appears," said Doctor Cole, "that the small central rural school program makes adequate provision for all these prescribed curriculum areas. The typical curriculum offerings in terms of fundamental courses and services in the following fields, that may be found in a well-organized rural school program with 300 pupils or less in grades 1-12, may be listed as follows: English, social studies, science, mathematics, art, music, business subjects, agriculture and industrial arts, homemaking, health and physical education, guidance, extracurricular activities."

Among the 16 inherent advantages Doctor Cole claimed for the small central rural high schools are the following:

"There exists, in small communities, the opportunity of close cooperation of the school with other community agencies in the promotion of the community welfare, particularly that of the younger members of the community."

"There generally exists a more homogeneous group of young people. The occupational and cultural interests of the people in the rural community are not as divergent as those to be found in the larger communities of the state. There is a unity and a solidarity in small community life that provides a common basis for interests and understandings that simplifies the educational problem of the school."

"The school can more closely approximate ideals of democracy in its practices. There are less apt to be those class distinctions sometimes found in larger school systems. Equality of opportunity for all is more easily attained."

"Teachers have an opportunity to know their pupils and to be familiar with their backgrounds and thus provide more intelligent guidance in planning the educational and vocational careers of their pupils."

"There is a desirable integration of learning. Teachers often teach in related fields. Teachers are also in a position to know the educational backgrounds of their pupils and, as a matter of course, stress interrelationships of learnings as in the fields of science and mathematics, English and social studies, etc."

"It is possible to provide a better health program since the school physicians are often the family physicians of the pupils concerned. Richer opportunities exist, also, for outdoor play and recreation in rural communities, where proper facilities are provided as is financially possible under the central school law."

"One of the main objectives of the secondary school is training for citizenship. In a small community pupils have an opportunity to see the community at work. Everyone knows the postmaster and sheriff. Elections and public issues are very serious matters in the life of the small community and school children are brought into contact with the democratic processes as these function in everyday life."

"Because of the limited size of the school population, the educational program must of necessity be well-organized and limited to the basic studies previously listed. The time and energy of the teaching staff and the pupils may therefore be concentrated on these basic studies, thus resulting in more thorough-going instruction."

As to the criticism that the per capita cost in these schools is higher than in larger schools, Doctor Cole stated:

"You can not make the kind of citizens we want here in America on the same plan with which you manufacture automobiles, electric light bulbs and washing machines — by mass production. In a sparsely settled community the pupil population is bound to be small. If the territory is made too large, then transportation becomes not only expensive but a hardship. Yet the children in these communities are entitled to an educational program comparable to that offered in more populous communities. Not only are they entitled to it, but if this republic is to endure, they must have it. Back in 1925 the leaders from the cities, like Governor Alfred E. Smith and the late Senator Bernard Downey, recognized the fact and were outspoken in their support of this rural program, even though it would necessitate a higher per pupil cost. The sponsors of this law insisted that every child should be able to attend a high school and be at home at night without hardship."

Doctor Cole, in his conclusion stated:

"These three hundred schools with their marvelous buildings, ample and well-developed playgrounds, fully-equipped laboratories, large and well-trained teaching forces, modern transportation facilities and excellent library facilities were created by hard work and great sacrifice. They are your heritage today. Guard them well."

Church Pension Fund Of Episcopal Church

New York, N. Y., June 22 — Reporting assets of $35,650,000, and current pension benefits of $1,390,000, a year, the Twenty-Fourth Annual Report of The Church Pension Fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church, just issued, stresses the difficulties now being experienced by charitable institutions in respect to interest earnings on their invested assets. In a Supplementary Report, issued in conjunction with the regular Annual Report, Bishop Cameron J. Davis, President of the Fund, announces that the Trustees, at a recent Special Meeting on May 26th, adopted a more cautious program of extra benefits beyond those originally promised, pointing out that the Fund is now paying total benefits which exceed the original plan by more than $354,000 a year. In a special letter to all clergy of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Bishop Davis says: "It was because of fortunate conditions in the financial world and careful management that the Trustees were able to go beyond the basic promises of the Fund in the extra benefits which they have paid to beneficiaries. Today investment conditions have changed, and the low rate of interest paid by high grade investments makes it necessary to reduce somewhat the program of extra benefits for future beneficiaries in order that the Trustees may fulfill their fundamental responsibility to safeguard the basic obligations of the Fund and to preserve its excellent financial condition." He makes clear, however, that no existing pension is to be reduced and that the recent action taken by the Trustees refers only to future

 "The most lovable and livable quality that any human being can possess is Tolerance. Tolerance is the vision that enables us to see things from another's point of view. Volunteers Needed to Aid 'Cost of Living' Price Posting Day

Albany, N. Y., June 22 — At the request of the Regional Office of Price Administration, the New York State Office of Civilian Mobilization has requested the services of 20,000 volunteers for aid in a "Cost of Living" Price Posting Day on July 8.

In a letter from the Office of Civilian Mobilization, signed by Donald A. Campbell, deputy, sent to the chairmen of all New York State War Councils and Chairmen of the Offices of Civilian Mobilization, the general plan for the project in Region II of the Office of Price Administration is included.

In urging the assistance of the Volunteer Officers operating in the communities of the state through local War Councils and Local Offices of Civilian Mobilization to recruit the needed number of volunteers, Mr. Campbell wrote:

"The work volunteers will be asked to perform is not difficult, but very important to the general welfare of the country. Price rises in World War I were disastrous. Runaway prices doubled living costs. A family spending $100 a month on living expenses in 1914, spent $164 a month at the end of 1918 and $207 a month by the end of 1920. Moreover, while the war cost the Government 31 billion dollars, price rises added 13½ billion to the bill."

In New York State representatives of the Regional Office of Price Administration have been instructed to get in touch with all chairmen of city and county war councils and chairmen of civilian mobilization of such councils, as well as with councils in communities over 10,000 in population, beginning this week.

Successful operation of this plan in New York State must necessarily depend upon the efficiency of organization worked out by the representative of the Office of Price Administration with representatives of the local war council and volunteer office on an individual basis. The representative of that office will call upon you early in the week of June 22. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated."

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York State Director of Selective Service, said today that, except that it is gray, it is not expected there will be any change in the registration card used at the Fifth Registration on June 30. The card will follow the same form used in previous registrations.

By changing the color of the registration cards used at the several registrations, it is possible for the Selective Service System to classify registrants by age groups more readily. The cards used on October 16, 1940 were white, salmon on July 1, 1941, green on February 16, 1942, and buff was used for the cards of the Fourth Registration on April 27, 1942. The card used for a late registrant is that of the registration he was required to register.

General Brown stated that the information asked of a registrant on registration day is confined to the answers to nine questions. The questions are:

1. First, full middle, and last names.
2. Junior must be indicated if necessary.
3. Permanent place of residence. This must be accurate as it determines the jurisdiction of the local board.
4. Mailing address.
5. Telephone number.
6. Age in years and date of birth.
7. Name and address of person who will always know the registrant's address.
8. Employer's name and address.
9. Place (address) of employment or business.

The practice of many newspapers in reproducing a facsimile of the registration card just before registration day, General Brown said, "has been very helpful to the registrants. Those who expect to register on June 30 are encouraged to clip a reproduction of the registration card from some newspaper, fill it out, and bring it with them to the registration place."

Registrants are asked to use special care in their answer to Question 2, especially if their post-office address is different from that of the local board in whose jurisdiction their permanent residence is located. The geographical residence must be given in order to bring them within the jurisdiction of their home board.

Women Pilots Serving Russia

Fly Bombers and Fighters In Air War With Nazis; Glad to Help.

MOSCOW.—Women bomber and fighter pilots are playing an important part in Russia's air war against Germany.

"There is no differentiation between the sexes in the Soviet union," said Valentina Grizodubova, 31-year-old mother, famous throughout Russia as a bomber pilot.

Valentina, attractive and very feminine, with curly dark hair, brown eyes, shapely mouth and dimples, began flying 14 years ago. Her husband is a pilot, her father was a pilot, and her five-year-old son already has earned the nickname of "Little Falcon."

Woman Flies a Major.

"I have bombed German communications and troops, and I have been attacked in daylight by Nazi fighters, but came through safely, escorted by Soviet fighters," Valentina, who holds the rank of major, told British newspaper men in an interview.

"I am a squadron leader, and I like heavy bombers—the heavier the type and the greater the range, the more I am pleased. I should like to fly one of your big four-engined bombers."

Valentina told how Soviet women fliers are playing a steady increasing part in the air war. Scores of women are engaged in bomber operations—one 45-year-old woman is a navigator—and many more are fighter pilots. Some girls have been trained to fly Hurricanes.

"A friend of mine, Vera Lokomok, who shot down one Nazi plane, was flying a month before the birth of her daughter, and very soon afterward shot down several more planes," Valentina said. "She is 21 and has the Order of Lenin."

Valentina scoffed at a suggestion that women may not be as well suited to flying warplanes as men.

"In my experience," she said, "girls make just as good pilots as men. You cannot judge by appearance. I know girls so quiet and apparently timid that they blush when spoken to, yet they pilot bombers over Germany without a quail."

Men Take Their Orders.

"Some of our girls have flown 1,000 hours. It makes no difference whether the crews are all men, all women or mixed. I find that men have no objection to taking orders from women."

It isn't only in the air that Soviet women are sharing in the fighting. Valentina told of Shchelintina, a sea captain; of girl tank commanders and radio operators in submarines, and of thousands of women in the pioneer engineer corps.

"I know girls," she said, "who have taken part in the fiercest fighting of the war and who, coming home on leave, have changed into men. With their hair brushed and combed, you would never dream that a few hours before they were killing Fascists."

"No country at war today can afford to ignore the tremendous reservoir of woman power, nor the passion and willingness with which women will fight Fascist murderers."

Speed Scrap Salvage to Supply War Industry

The army is intensifying salvage operations to make all the scrap it can collect immediately available to war industry, the War Department announced today.

Gratified with the results of the various branches of the army that have been carrying on salvage operations for more than a year, action has been taken to make them even more effective through coordination with war production agencies.

Officers in charge of army salvaging work will have expert advice from the War Production Board as to methods of collection, segregation, and classification of salvaged materials, and timely information on current needs and scrap prices.

To facilitate such service, the Bureau of Industrial Conservation of the Board is establishing regional advisory offices which will be available to all Corps Area commanders and Supply Services chiefs. The Salvage Section, Services of Supply, will be in charge of all salvage operations that involve more than one military agency.

Every army station and depot has a special salvage officer to collect and sell to licensed junk dealers the miscellaneous material, known as dormant scrap, which accumulates at such points. Industrial scrap, which is material resulting from manufacturing processes at munitions plants and similar installations, the salvage officer will dispose of through the War Production Board when it is collected in quantity.

The War Department has authorized the employment of salvage technicians in large scrap generating plants and in central collecting stations. Some of these technicians will be army officers, others will be civilians.

A recent army survey turned up several thousand tons of obsolete equipment that could be used as industrial scrap. All such accumulations of raw materials which are discovered will be reported to the Bureau of Industrial Conservation.

Physical Fitness Program Slated For Boys' State

Albany, June 22 — Dr. Hiram A. Jones, director of the Division of Physical Fitness, New York State War Council, announced today that the State Physical Fitness Division, in co-operation with the American Legion Department of New York, and Syracuse University, will launch the physical fitness program for young men of pre-registrant ages, including commando training, as a part of the American Legion Boys' State being held at Manlius Military Academy.

Fred L. Stone of Syracuse, dean of Boys' State, has already assembled the first contingent of 240 young men. The second contingent will arrive Saturday, June 27. The commando training event will be an added feature of this year's Boys' State.

Willard Magavern, Buffalo attorney, heads the Legion Physical Fitness Committee, and Lewis P. Andreas, director of Physical Education at Syracuse University, will be in charge of affairs for the university. The program of physical fitness events will be under the immediate supervision of the staff of the Division of Physical Fitness of the State War Council. Competent instruction, to develop correct activity techniques and skills, will be provided by qualified physical training instructors.

The central event, both for training and competition, will be the standard commando 100 yard obstacle race, developed by the State Division of Physical Fitness. The general purpose of this event is to develop a high degree of strength, speed and agility as well as daring qualities. Each representative of Boys' State will be presented with a copy of the Physical Fitness manual, "Four for Victory," especially prepared by the State War Council for this age group. This manual contains practical information on Physical fitness including a series of simple, self-administering exercises designed to maintain and develop strength and stamina, as well as dietary and hygienic advice.

Modern Robinson Crusoe Ends Life as Suicide

Santa Barbara, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Herbert C. Lester, 54, who spent a modern day Robinson Crusoe existence on San Miguel Island in search of happiness and quiet for his war-torn nerves, ended his life by a gunshot wound last Thursday.

First word of his death came last night after a visit to the island by Coroner E. G. Dodge of Santa Barbara. Informed belatedly of the death, he pronounced it a suicide and said Lester, a veteran of the war of 1917-1918 was known to have been in failing health.

Returning to the mainland with the Coroner was Lester's family—his wife and their two daughters, Mary Anne, 11, and Betsy, 9. Closed was their school, once called the smallest in the world. A miniature shack built by Lester, his pupils were the two girls. Mrs. Lester, an accredited teacher, was the instructor.

Lester, who operated a sheep ranch on the lonely island, paid infrequent visits to the mainland. His family rarely came over. Supplies and mail in peacetime were flown to them. The war interrupted this service.

Kripplebush Man Hurt in Accident

Augustus Wager, 62, and 3 Others Are Injured in Saturday Crash

An automobile accident about 5:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon on Route 209 in the neighborhood of the Midway Garage, near Kripplebush, sent one man to the hospital seriously injured, resulted in lesser injuries to three other persons and still has Sheriff Anderson and Deputies Vredenburg and DeWitt puzzled as to exactly what happened.

Taken to the Kingston Hospital in the Humiston ambulance was Augustus Wager, 62, of Kripplebush. He is suffering from a fractured rib, lacerations of the face and internal injuries. His condition this morning was reported to be serious.

Mrs. Harold R. Everett of Kripplebush, daughter of Mr. Wager, was treated by Dr. Edward Shea of Stone Ridge, for severe bruises. Mr. Everett sustained cuts and bruises on the forehead and Herman Cielvin of 175-99 Dalany Road, Jamaica, L. I., was given first-aid treatment for a bruise on the forehead, by attendants from Conner's ambulance, which also had been called following the accident.

As learned by the investigating officers, the trouble started when John Karnup, 63, of 175-05 Wexford Terrace, Jamaica, L. I., driving west, according to his story, attempted to pass another car near the Pratt place, on a grade and near the entrance to a curve in the highway. Seeing another car approaching he put on his brakes, lost control of his car and headed across the road to his left. Another car approaching from the opposite direction avoided a collision by pulling completely off the road.

Karnup pulled back onto this side of the road, ran along the shoulder of the road for a considerable distance, then turned at right angles onto the highway and struck the car being driven toward Stone Ridge by Harold R. Everett. The glancing blow sent Everett's car off the road and 20 feet into a field, where it upset, with wheels facing the road. Karnup's car turned completely around and then shot into the field and came to a stop just back of the Everett car, about opposite the Tompkins garage.

Mr. Wager, who was riding with his daughter and son-in-law, was found pinned fast in the rumble seat of their car. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cielvin of Jamaica were riding with Karnup.

Everett placed a charge of recklessness against Karnup and he was taken before Justice George Tompkins, where he deposited $75 cash bail for appearance at a hearing on Thursday at 7 p. m.

Two High Falls Men Find Trouble on Trip

Benjamin Hornbeck, 40, of High Falls, was arrested in Accord Sunday by Sheriff Anderson and Deputies DeWitt and Barley, on a charge of driving a car with improper registration plates and having no driver's license. He was taken before Justice Percy Barley who fined him $20, which he paid, after being brought to jail.

Hornbeck was driving a car which the officers were told had been purchased that day by Harry Smith, 51, High Falls farmer, and was taking Smith to his home. Smith also was arrested on complaint of a restaurant owner in The Pines, on Route 209, who said that Smith had stopped at his place and on being refused admittance had smashed a window in the door. He, too, was taken before Justice Barley, who sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail, the charge being disorderly conduct.

Seven Injured

Seven persons were injured in Catskill Sunday morning when a truck ran into a tree, bounded back on to the highway and struck two passenger cars. One of the cars contained three nurses, who were on their way to the Greene County Hospital to report for duty and where they are now recuperating from shock and bruises. Miss Marie Oscar of Saugerties was one of the nurses injured.

The need for crop cultivation in Switzerland has necessitated a reduction in livestock, according to the Department of Commerce.

Speaker Says U. S. Patriotism Among Outmoded Virtues

tion of freedom in the four types of government, he said, that in America freedom resided in the individual man, in Italy it was in the state, in Germany in the race and in Russia in the class.

However, all of these advantages of democracy cannot survive without religion, the Rev. Father Herdegen said. Religion is the necessary fibre of moral law and virtue for democracy, he stated.

Intolerance Is Result

A democracy that loses religion becomes as intolerant as the state that is totalitarian, he insisted. Religion and the rights of man go hand in hand and religion and tyranny grow in an inverted ratio, he said.

He advocated the teaching of religion and religious principles in school as the only hope of America. When men cease to love God, he then also ceases to love his neighbor and necessary requisite for a democracy. In closing he proposed to the members of the class and all to "become a patriot by finding God."

Principal Clarence L. Duman presided at the evening services and stated that this was the 10th Baccalaureate at which this privilege was accorded to him. He also presented the class to the Rev. Father Herdegen, and paid tribute to Miss Margaret Chasey, an outstanding member of the class, whose father, the Rev. Joseph W. Chasey of St. James Methodist Church, was chosen to offer the prayer; and to Miss Vivian Swart, school pianist for the last four years, who is also graduating with this class.

The Rev. Maurice W. Veno of St. John's Episcopal Church gave the invocation, followed by the scripture reading by the Rev. D. Linton Doherty. The anthem for the evening was sung by a choir under the direction of Leonard Stine. The Rev. Otto L. Schreiber of St. Paul's Lutheran Church gave the benediction.

This evening at 8 o'clock, the annual informal Class Day exercises will be held at which time the class will engage in good natured joking and interesting highlights of their career at K.H.S. through the class speakers. Tomorrow evening Commencement will be held at the Municipal Auditorium when the speaker will be Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College.

On Wednesday evening the class will hold its commencement dance with La Falce's orchestra of Poughkeepsie providing the music. Decorations will be in the form of an old Dutch village with a large windmill. The committee who has arranged for this dance and from whom tickets may be purchased is: David Lane, chairman; Miss Judy Fessenden, Miss Roberta Hotelling, Berman Lord, Paul Beshegtoorian, Lewis Roosa, George Johnson, Joseph Hansen, Otto Gugger, John Hill and William Kinch.

The class is wearing the caps and gowns for the commencement exercises, white ones for the young women and maroon for the young men, as has now become a custom at the school.

Industrialist Says He Has No Desire for Politics

New York, June 22 (AP)—Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., apparently strengthened his bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination today as Owen D. Young, retired industrialist, removed himself as a possible candidate.

Harold R. Moskowitz, state president of the Affiliated Young Democrats, made public a letter from Young in which the latter said "I have no desire to enter politics." The Young Democrats, who had listed Young as a possible nominee, also reported Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Business Machines Corp., Oscar R. Ewing, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., likewise declined to have their names considered.

Undismayed by the action of the state C. I. O. convention in opposing Bennett, his backers went ahead with nomination plans and reported having 642 of the state's 1,014 delegates behind the attorney general.

The C. I. O. unit also went on record against Thomas E. Dewey, leading Republican choice. However, Local 202 of the A. F. L. Commission Drivers and Chauffeurs Union endorsed Dewey after praising his labor record.

Meanwhile, the state convention of the Socialist party nominated Coleman Cheney, professor of economics at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, as a candidate for governor. The rest of their slate was:

Samuel H. Friedman, editor of the Socialist party's national weekly "The Call," lieutenant governor; Joseph G. Glass, New York city labor attorney, attorney-general; the Rev. Herman J. Hahn, pastor of Salem Church in Buffalo, comptroller; and Layle Lane, vice president of the American Federation of Teachers, and Amicus Most, New Rochelle engineer, congressmen-at-large.

Cheney and the others will run as independents as the Socialist party was forced off the ballot in 1938 for failing to poll the required minimum of 50,000 votes. Leaders said in selecting Cheney that they hoped to garner enough votes to have the party reinstated.

Legionnaire to Direct Air Warning Publicity

The district civil director of the Aircraft Warning Service appointed Jack Rabin, local Legionnaire and chairman on Americanism for Kingston Post, to direct the publicity connected with the observation posts throughout Ulster county.

These "observation posts" are part of the Aircraft Warning Service of the First Fighter Command. There are about 50 such "posts" in Ulster county with about 170 men and women to each post, all volunteers, manning these "posts" on a 24 hour basis. Each "post" is in charge of a chief observer responsible to the district civil director, who in turn is responsible to a military personnel.

Mr. Rabin, whose job is civil and voluntary, has for several years handled all of the Legion publicity within the county of Ulster. The New York State Legionnaire, official Legion publication, rated him "tops" within his field, and H. L. Chaillaux, director of the National Americanism Commission, commended him for his energetic activity in promoting the Legion's Americanism program.

Rabin also is a member of Volture 381, of the "40 and 8." During the World War he served overseas with the 72nd Air Squadron.

Puerto Rico is planning to establish a modern, large-scale commercial fishing industry, the Department of Commerce reports.

Local Democrats Pick Slate

The Ulster County Democratic convention was held Saturday afternoon at the municipal auditorium. Shown above are the candidates for the fall election. Standing left to right, Herbert George, candidate for county clerk; Francis T. Martucci, for district attorney; Judge Bernard A. Culloton, retiring leader of the county Democrats; Joseph E. Vozdik, Jr., for assemblyman and Harry M. Finger.

er and a boxer and that he was now engaged in business in Saugerties. "He is not an orator but a man of action," said Mr. Campbell "and last year he ran unsuccessfully for a town office in Saugerties, but was just nosed out."

George Is Named

Ross K. Osterhoudt of Stone Ridge said that he desired to nominate for the office of county clerk "a man from the back woods who had made good in the board of supervisors" and named former Supervisor Herbert L. George of the town of Denning, who in accepting the nomination said he would pledge his best efforts if elected.

Attorney Chris J. Flanagan of this city placed in nomination for district attorney, Francis T. Martucci of this city, who he said was well qualified to fill that office.

State Committee Members
Judge Bernard A. Culloton and Anne Sands McGrath of the town of Shandaken were named as members of the Democratic state committee.

The convention also elected seven delegates and seven alternates to attend the state convention. The delegates are Judge Culloton, Roscoe Irwin, William F. Edelmuth, Carol de la Vergne, Joseph H. Forman, Lester Terwilliger and Francis Kaley.

The alternates are James H. Betts, Arthur Woods, Joseph Saccoman, Joseph Epstein, Andrew Gilday, Ross K. Ellsworth and Helen S. Nabb.

Judicial Delegates

Seven delegates and seven alternates were also named to attend the third judicial district convention. They are Judge Culloton, Roscoe Irwin, Joseph H. Forman, N. Jansen Fowler, Joseph M. Campbell, Chris J. Flanagan and Arthur B. Ewig. The alternates are Thomas Plunket, Guido Napoleotano, John W. DeWitt, Daniel Hoffman, Philip Slutsky, Francis T. Murray and William H. Grogan.

Judge Culloton appointed Joseph J. McGrath, Andrew Gilday and Joseph Saccoman as a committee on vacancies.

In adjourning the convention Judge Culloton said that a meeting of the Democratic committee would be held at the close of the convention.

Forman Named Leader

When the members of the county committee assembled at the convention's close Judge Culloton submitted his resignation as county chairman, and Corporation Counsel Joseph H. Forman of this city was selected to fill the post, while Mrs. Carol de la Vergne of this city was named co-chairman to fill the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Mrs. Herman I. DuBois of this city, who had resigned owing to ill health.

Judge Culloton, who has held the post of county chairman since Judge Harry E. Schirick, was named to the Supreme Court bench, early in 1936, said he was no longer able to give the necessary time to the office of county chairman as his duties as deputy motor vehicle commissioner at Albany kept him busy.

Judge Culloton said, however, that he would be able to continue to serve as state committeeman.

City Assessor James H. Betts nominated Corporation Counsel Forman for the post of county leader.

The county committee also elected Mr. Betts as treasurer of the committee.

No City Chairman

No action was taken on the resignation of Joseph Epstein of this city as chairman of the Democratic city committee. Mr. Epstein had filed his resignation of the post the latter part of last week.

It is expected that later the post will be filled.

Reception Planned

Plans are being made to give a reception to the members of the State Guard Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Rhinebeck ferry shed on Ferry street, when the local units in charge of Major C. M. Preston, will return to Kingston after spending ten days at Camp Smith near Peekskill. The local units will arrive at Rhinebeck on the New York Central train shortly after 12 o'clock that day, and will arrive in Kingston on the 1 o'clock ferry.

Rose Planting Is Topical at Gardens Club

The Little Gardens Club met at the home of Mrs. Lucius Doty, 71 Linderman avenue, Friday afternoon, June 19. After the routine business was concluded an informal discussion relative to the merits of certain plants and flowers in the summer garden was enjoyed. This year the club has been studying papers prepared by Montague Free, horticulturist, Brooklyn Botanic Garden, and at each meeting one of Mr. Free's papers is presented. The topic of Friday's paper was "Planting Roses" and was read by Mrs. Prescott Clapp.

In presenting the paper Mrs. Prescott Clapp gave many suggestions for the rose gardener. She said that many of the gardeners, especially beginners are surprised to learn that roses can be planted in the fall. Whether or not they are planted in the spring or fall the planting must be done properly.

The soil should be prepared at least a month ahead of time in order to give it a chance to settle. Fertilizer should be carefully mixed with the soil and a hole large enough in which to set all of the roots without bending should be dug.

The plant itself should be pruned about one-half and all spindling growth removed. The roots should be firmly set in the ground especially in the fall when the danger of heaving by frost is present.

Mrs. Clapp also told of the care that should be given to roses before the winter season. A thorough spraying with a commercial lime-sulphur is advisable and before doing this all fallen rose leaves should be raked off and destroyed by burning. This process is a precaution to eliminate sources of infection by fungus pests the following year. The soil should be hilled up around the plants and in areas where temperatures reach zero, additional covering for the tops should be provided.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served refreshments and a delightful afternoon was brought to a close with a visit to Mrs. Doty's beautiful garden. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Prescott Clapp, Lounsbury Place, Friday, July 10.

Save Refugees in Improvised Plane

Wank Patch Fortress and Fly Group to Australia.

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA. — The two American airmen had never taken up a flying Fortress before. But they patched this one up from the parts of three damaged ones—had to do the job over because the Japanese sent bullets through the carburetor and magneto.

But finally they cleared the dead Japanese off the runway, and with child refugees stowed in the bomb bay and without instruments or maps flew their bullet-pierced bomber from Bandung in Java to Australia.

They are here now. Capt. Gerald Chermishin of Altamonte, Calif., and Sgt. Harry Hayes, San Antonio, Texas, modestly explained the whole exploit with the explanation:

"Neither of us could have done it without the other."

The two Americans who flew the patched-up plane, last Allied aircraft to escape from Bandung before the Japanese captured that former Allied headquarters, also saved three Netherlands air force officials and eight women and children of Netherlands officials.

Veterans of 16 years in the United States air force, the two Americans, working with Malayans mechanics for 4½ days in the Bandung railway shops, finished their work the afternoon of March 7 and were just preparing to take off when Japanese planes swooped low and landed 15 parachutists.

Simultaneously a small Japanese force that had approached undetected began to attack.

The Netherlands and Japanese defenders of the airport went into action and soon wiped out the parachutists and their comrades.

WASHINGTON—Bread costs the army 2.45 cents a pound to produce, the war department reported.

A survey covering a month's operation of 17 army quartermaster bakeries disclosed the average cost.

The bakeries used more than 850 tons of flour and produced 2,506,426 pounds of bread at a total cost of $66,464. The bread was made with enriched flour containing vitamins B1 and B2 and other energy-giving materials.

The army bakes two kinds of bread. Garrison bread has a thin crust like that bought in civilian stores, and field bread has a thick crust which keeps it fresh for two or three weeks.

Younger students are being mobilized for farm work, and schools in some sections will be closed immediately so they may go into field camps, the dispatches declared.

Within a few weeks, it was said, there will be scarcely a German man or woman not engaged in some manner of war work.

British Taxes on Estate

Cut Deep Into Legacies

LONDON.—Taxation in Britain has reached such a high level that the £2,000,000 estate of Sir Philip Sassoon was not enough to provide an annuity of £11,000 free of all tax, which he left after other bequests to a cousin, Mrs. Hannah Gubbay.

At current tax rates a gross annual income of £312,750 would be necessary to provide such an annuity and the capital amount required to provide such an income would be £10,425,000. It was held in the law courts that Mrs. Gubbay was entitled to have annuity based on the available funds.

Americans Live Longest

In the Prairie States

WASHINGTON.—People in the West North Central states seem to live longer than other Americans, according to census statistics recently made public.

In this region, comprising Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, the average life span of the white population is shown by the record to be 64.7 years. Other section averages were: Pacific Coast, 63.4; East North Central, 63.3; New England, 62.9; West South Central, 62.4; Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic, 61.9; Mountain States, 60.

Fighting Men Flooded With Children's Books

DES MOINES.—Men in the armed forces don't want to read about the Bobbsey Twins, Little Black Sambo or the Campfire Girls. City Librarian Forrest Spaulding reminded book donors the other day.

"It is surprising how many children's stories are being donated," he said.

Gets Commission

Sergeant Grade Four Raymond T. Anderson of Connelly, was graduated from the Coast Artillery Officer Candidate School at Camp Davis, N. C., last Friday, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army of the United States. Before his service in the army, Mr. Anderson was employed by the Public National Bank & Trust Co., of New York City.

Cole Graduates

PVT. MILTON E. COLE

Private Milton E. Cole, son of Mrs. Milton H. Cole of 88 Hoffman street, this city, is one of the class who was graduated last week from the clerical department of the Armored Force School at Fort Knox, Ky. Private Cole has been in service since February, 1942. The men in this class are qualified as clerks to work in various departments of the Armored Force, and are assigned to offices all over the United States.

Headed by Lieut. Max E. Kirkbride, a staff of 42 including a high percentage of college graduates, all experts in their respective fields, teach soldiers to keep military records, morning reports, payrolls, allotments, re-enlistments, medical records, and the voluminous correspondence which is so systematized that men can be transferred from one office to another and the records will be continuous and understandable.

Unless they can type at least 30 words a minute at the end of their three-month course, students are not graduated. However, their longer hours of practice bring them to this standard much quicker than the ordinary commercial course.

Area F.S.A. Head Gets New Powers

Donald W. Hammond Has Full Responsibility

J. H. Wood, regional director of the Farm Security Administration, today notified Donald W. Hammond, Ulster and Sullivan county supervisor for F.S.A., that a sweeping administrative procedure change will center responsibility for local farmer-borrowers in the hands of Supervisor Hammond and his staff.

Wood told Hammond that the change transfers to the county office functions previously performed at regional headquarters in Upper Darby, Pa. It will reduce operating costs and expand F.S.A. services to farmers engaged in war food production.

"We are trimming our regional office," Wood said, "and giving increased authority and responsibility to county supervisors throughout our Maine-through-Maryland region. The county personnel are veterans of six months' 'Food for Freedom' campaigning. They have been doing a grand job in most counties. Now they will carry the ball."

Wood said that field offices henceforth will be responsible for collection as well as supervision of loans made by F.S.A. to bring small farmers into all-out war production. He said many decisions which hitherto were made by the regional office are now the responsibility of the county office staff.

Wood revealed F.S.A. has not asked for draft deferment of any employee and that the percentage of enlistments has been high.

As a result, he said, "we are suffering from a shortage of trained workers. Therefore, the reorganization will cause many transfers but few dismissals."

The county supervisor said that, "since Pearl Harbor we have been flooded with requests for loans and technical guidance. Small farmers in Ulster and Sullivan counties have been so anxious to do their full share that our facilities have been taxed to the utmost. Now, with our decks fully cleared for action, we are ready to serve more farmers than ever in our history and to serve them faster."

"Our streamlined procedure has cut costs. We are going to save money, save time, and save scores of small farmers from lying idle because of lack of credit while the country calls for food."

More Rain Hits Area

Sunday morning another rain storm broke over Kingston and there were showers throughout the morning hours. The total precipitation was 48 of an inch, according to the records in the city engineer's office, making a total rainfall, so far this month of 2.44 inches. The temperatures on Saturday and Sunday touched a high of 86 degrees, while the lowest point reached by the official city thermometer was 64 degrees on Sunday and 65 degrees on Saturday.

Excelsiors to Meet

Plans Twilight Boxing

With the major league baseball teams arranging a number of twilight ball games, Frank Paula, boxing promoter of Union City, N. J., has planned a twilight boxing show for Roosevelt Stadium, July 15. Paula said it would be the first ever conducted on the Atlantic seaboard. The show will get under way at 6:45 o'clock and end no later than one hour after sundown, when dimout regulations require the extinction of floodlights.

Starts Air Training

Sam Chapman, former big league outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, has departed from Norfolk, Va., for the Naval Reserve aviation base at Washington to begin flight training in naval aviation. Chapman volunteered for service about eight weeks ago. He had been serving as a physical instructor at the Norfolk station for about five months.

Isn't Too Fussy

During Joe Medwick's hitting streak which hit the 22 game mark against the St. Louis Cardinals Friday, he has been comparatively impartial to left and right handed pitchers. Against portsideers Joe has batted .385 and against righties a .400 average. In all, he's been hitting at a .393 clip, which isn't too bad.

Airtight Defense

The Brooklyn Dodgers haven't made an error in 99 innings, not since the first inning of a twin-bill at Wrigley Field, June 5. That record was up to and including Friday's game at Ebbets Field. Quite a change from the days of Babe Herman and company.

Ford Frick Fines Two

Both Joe Medwick and Frank "Creepy" Crespi were fined $25 by President Ford Frick of the National League for their run-in at Ebbets Field during the twilight game Thursday night. Dixie Walker, who was a non-combatant in that fight, and came out with a twisted leg, will undergo an X-ray to determine any possible injuries.

10 Straight Games

By hitting safely in the double-header against the Chicago Cubs Friday afternoon at the Polo Grounds, Big Johnny Mize of the Giants ran his hitting streak to 10 straight games. Jawn rapped out a homer in both games to add his round-tripper total to nine. Mize also leads the National League in the R. B. I. column with 49 runs.

Game Moved Ahead

The Giants and the Cubs met in a twin-bill last Friday afternoon as the single game scheduled for Saturday, September 12, will be given to the New York Herald-Tribune annual All-Star football game for the Tribune Fresh Air game and the Army Emergency Relief. Both Horace Stoneham of the Giants and Jimmy Gallagher of Chicago, agreed on the change.

Passes Army Test

Jack Wallasea, 21-year-old shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, passes the army physical examination at his home board in Newark, N. J., last week. He was scheduled for induction Saturday. Wallasea enlisted in the Army at Philadelphia, N. J., after getting a call from his local draft board. He was batting .256 before leaving the A's.

Travel by Wagons

Two hay wagons were leased last week by Bill Reid, Colgate's director of Athletics, to transport the Red Raider football team during the coming season. Colgate, four miles from the nearest passenger-carrying railroad, plays most of its games away from home. Reid said "we'll get the boys to a train, anyway."

Gar Wood, Jr., Weds

Gar Wood, Jr., son of the famous motor boss, and Miss Katherine Vincent of Tulsa, Okla., were married June 1, the bride's parents announced today.

Dies of Injuries

Frank Newman, 31, a midjet auto racer, died of injuries received Friday night when his racing car hit an abutment and upset during a race at Civic Stadium in Buffalo.

Joe Louis Leaves For Fort Riley to Complete Training

New York, June 22 (AP)—Five years ago tonight in Chicago Joe Louis knocked out James J. Braddock for the heavyweight boxing title and today the young negro heads back to the Midwest, this time to condition himself for fighting a contender.

Louis will go directly to Fort Riley, Kas., where he will complete his basic military training. The champion enlisted in the army January 12 and was inducted two days later but the customary 13-week schooling period was stretched to more than five months to permit appearances at various benefits.

In Kansas, army officials have indicated, Louis will concentrate entirely on becoming a soldier. During his five-year reign as the heavyweight king, Louis defended his title 21 times—more than any previous champion—and twice put the ring's most valuable possession in jeopardy free of charge to aid military relief organizations.

On January 9 he knocked out Buddy Baer in the first round of a fight program that benefited the Navy Relief Fund by $89,922.01 and on March 27 he flattened Abe Simons, smashed a four-bagger and poured $64,980.02 into the Army Relief Treasury Chest.

Outstanding accounts created by the purchase of automobiles will probably be reduced as much as 80 per cent this year due to decreased new financing, says the Department of Commerce.

UP IN THE CLOUDS IN RECORD TRY

Soon after setting a new meet record of 15 feet 2½ inches at the A. A. U. championships at New York, Cornelius Warmerdam, the California school teacher, attempted (above) to shatter his own world's record by vaulting 15 feet 9 inches, but an elbow brushed off the cross-bar on his way down.

Pitching Performances Take Spotlight in Majors

Dodgers Regain 7½-Game Lead After St. Louis Wins Only Tilt of Extended Series

(By the Associated Press)

Sadder but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—their departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded Flatbush last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National League leaders by only four games and a half, but they bumped into a Brooklyn team that apparently is serious about representing the circuit in the World Series once more.

By way of demonstrating their determination, the Dodgers slapped the Cardinals down four times out of five, pushed them three full games further behind, and sent them on their weary way.

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Mort Cooper, their pitching ace, who might keep his club in the pennant struggle if he could do all the hurling whenever the two teams meet.

Cooper handcuffed the league champs on five hits in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, while his mates hopped on three Dodger pitchers for 14 safeties, including home runs by Ray Sanders and Stan Musial, to compile an 11-0 shutout.

Medwick Hits Again

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who hunched their blows off Howard Pollett for a 5-2 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Cooper's victory was his ninth of the season, his seventh in a row, his fifth shutout, and his second whitewash job on the Dodgers, who have yet to beat him.

However, the Cardinal right-hander wasn't the only hurler to have a good day in the major leagues, both of which produced several sparkling mound performances.

Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four-hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yankees turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts. Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games, and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

Giants-Cubs Divide

Melton pitched the Giants to a tap triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game yesterday, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 7-2, as Stan Hack hit a two-run homer and pinch-hitter Dom Delisandro smashed a four-bagger with the bases loaded.

The Cincinnati Reds, and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning the first, 3-2, behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts, 2-1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the tenth inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves. Their second game bowed to the weather.

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, 3-2, but led the

Hogan Registers Victory in Hale America Tourney

Jimmy Demaret Goes to Pieces on Last Four Holes; Turnesa Comes in Third

By GAYLE TALBOT

Chicago, June 22 (AP)—Little Ben Hogan, some 135 pounds of pure whipcord, finally crashed through to win that major golf championship which eluded him so long while he was busy winning most of the money and otherwise establishing himself as the uncrowned king of the links.

His victory in the Hale America tournament which ended yesterday at the Ridgemoor Club was about as brilliant a feat as golf has seen. His total of 271 for the 72 holes shattered by 10 strokes the record for the National Open Championship. On his second round the dark, diminutive Texan shot an almost unbelievable 62.

Yet, ironically, this supreme goal of every golfer still eludes Ben. His record will not appear in Golf's record book as winner of the National Open title. Because of the war, there will be no Open Tournament this year. This was the closest thing to it. Hogan, though, was not in a mood to accept any sympathy after he had rolled in putts from all sorts of distances to score his clinching 68 of yesterday.

"What difference does it make?" he demanded. "If this wasn't an Open Championship I don't know what could be. Everybody was in it. I'm glad to win, whatever they call it. I never expected to be close after that 72 I shot the first day. There were 62 other players even with me or better that night."

Demaret Is "Goat"

Ben was the winner, the player who pocketed first prize of $1,100. The "goat" of the four-day event—and there seems to be one in every tournament—was Jimmy Demaret, of Detroit. The happy-go-lucky Jimmy needed only to shoot the last four holes in par to score a 66 on his final round and finish in a tie with Hogan for the title. Instead, he went to pieces, drove like the rankest duffer on three consecutive holes and wound up in a tie with Mike Turnesa for second place with a total of 274.

To sum it up, Hogan's four rounds were 72-62-68-69—271. Demaret had 68-68-69-69—274. Turnesa 65-66-72-71—274. The final round was a tense one, with close to 8,000 spectators tearing over the course in the hot sunshine, trying to stick with the winner.

Demaret broke a lot of hearts when he blew up in sight of the finish. After the first three contenders, the field was widely scattered. Seven strokes behind Hogan at 278 were Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson and Byron Nelson. Thomson's 66 was the best round of the final day. Tied at 280 were Lawson Little and Eddie Burke; at 281 were Dick Metz, Jim Foe, and Lloyd Mangrum. From there they soared on into the 300-odd brackets.

World Champions out of the wilderness with a 4-0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughes evened it up in the second, which Boston won, 7-0.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom, 4-1, in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators, 3-2, when Virgil Trucks, Tiger reliever, walked a man with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Athletics took both games from the St. Louis Browns, 4-2 and 4-3, with Bob Johnson supplying most of the batting punch.

Emmons Asks Hawaii Non-Residents Evacuate

Honolulu, June 22 (AP)—Warning that the United States victory over the Japanese in the Battle of Midway "has given many people a false sense of security," Lieut. General Delos C. Emmons today urged all non-residents to leave the Hawaiian Islands as soon as possible.

Although American air and naval forces early this month routed the largest fleet Japan ever sent across the international dateline in what may have been an attempted invasion of the United States west coast, it is dangerous to assume the enemy will not return, said General Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian Department, U. S. Army.

"The outcome of the battle of Midway has given many people a false sense of security," Emmons said in a statement. "Nothing can be more dangerous than such an attitude. To assume the enemy will not return in force and utilize every weapon at his disposal is the most dangerous kind of wishful thinking."

"It is important to our war effort that all civilians, especially all non-resident women, children and dependent persons who are not engaged in essential war work, make plans for evacuation to the mainland and depart as soon as possible."

"I urge all non-residents who are not needed in war work to place their affairs in shape and depart for the mainland as soon as space becomes available. Practically all army and navy dependents have been evacuated."

Full Nazi Drive Might Come Soon On Vital Fronts

Rommel Has Proved to Be Master Strategist and Anglo Press Is Now in Full Cry

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World War Analyst)

Marshal Rommel's capture of Tobruk, and the precarious position of Russia's great naval base of Sevastopol under furious German assault—operations vitally linked with Hitler's attempt to break into the Caucasus and Middle East—bring us appreciably nearer the moment when the Nazi chief will unleash his full pack and race for a kill.

Our immediate concern is with Tobruk, for Sevastopol still stands. The British now are back on Egyptian soil, preparing to defend their mighty base at Alexandria and block the road to the Suez Canal. Obviously the position is serious.

The London press, surprised and angered at this defeat, demands whether there has been a blunder. That's a legitimate question, but pending further information we are entitled to say no more than that Rommel again has demonstrated that he is a master strategist and is perhaps even greater as a tactician on the actual battle field.

Still, while the British certainly must inquire into the circumstances of the defeat, the problem now is to defend Egypt and the canal, for they must be held at all costs. We don't know how much the British have salvaged from their shattered eighth army which was operating in Libya, though a considerable force withdrew across the border. Apart from this, there are the Egyptian army of 40,000 well trained men and 100,000 Allied guardsmen.

So far as concerns land forces, it's doubtful whether Rommel could at this moment muster more men than the defense appears to have, although he is superior in tanks. However, it seems to me that the battle for Egypt is likely to turn on air power, in which case the British presumably will depend heavily on the United States for reinforcements. This doesn't mean that more troops won't also be needed, for they will, but the most pressing matter is air power.

This may be the time when Hitler will cut loose that vast air fleet which he has been grooming for so many months. One of the most significant news dispatches of the day is the report of a Greek submarine commander, who has just returned to Alexandria, that "the Nazis seem to have lots of aircraft on Crete and in Greece." From those positions the Germans could attack either the Middle East or Egypt.

The greatest damage is that Hitler may not only stage a violent air offensive against Egypt, but may also reinforce Rommel with air-borne troops and supplies. Therefore control of the air over Egypt becomes a matter of paramount importance, and it will be surprising if the British aren't urging the immediate dispatch of substantial air reinforcements from the United States.

The capture of Tobruk may permit Rommel to make a quick stab at Egypt. He will want to catch the British before air and other reinforcements can reach them, and while his army undoubtedly is weary from the terrific pace it has been keeping, and the even more terrific summer heat of the desert, he likely anticipates quick reinforcements from his master.

One of Rommel's greatest difficulties will be his ever-lengthening line of communication. Possession of Tobruk is a godsend to him in this respect, since this stronghold was a powerful barrier on the great military road skirting the North African coast. Naturally, this capture also protects Rommel's flank as he advances, and gives him a port through which to receive supplies, if the British navy and Allied airforce can be stood off.

All that sounds pretty grim—and it is—but Allied mastery of the air over Egypt would entirely change the set-up.

Mass Feeding Taught

Ithaca, N. Y.—Sixty women in all parts of the state are helping to train other women in mass feeding. Trained recently at the college of home economics at Cornell, these women included home demonstration agents, representatives of the Red Cross, of home bureaus, of home service departments of public utilities, and of state and county nutrition committees. The three-day instruction course included organization of workers, menu planning, food purchasing, quantity food production and service, kitchen housekeeping and sanitation, and operation of a mobile kitchen. Also present were observers from the state departments of social welfare, health and education, the state nutrition committee, and the American Red Cross, who will serve on the state war council's mass feeding committee, now being organized.

Many waitresses in Britain have taken up war work.

AXIS ADVANCE TOWARD SUEZ

London admitted a "crushing defeat" in losing Tobruk, Bardia and Bir El Gobi—which opened the way for an Axis thrust toward Alexandria, Cairo, and the Suez Canal (indicated by broken arrow). Bardia and Bir El Gobi, said the London report, were "undefended," and Berlin claimed that 25,000 prisoners were captured when Tobruk was taken.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—Rep. Hamilton Fish is charged by American Labor Party leaders of the 26th Congressional District with "association with registered agents of our acknowledged enemies."

Adopting an anti-Fish resolution last night, A.L.P. chairmen of Dutchess, Orange and Putnam counties—those represented by Fish in Congress for 20 years—termed him "the very symbol in this country . . . of confusion, short-sightedness and obstructiveness."

State's War Council Will Be Regrouped

Albany, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—New York's War Council will be regrouped into three general divisions this week.

General William N. Haskell will head the division of Civilian Protection; Mrs. Winthrop A. Wilson, Deputy Educator Commissioner, will direct the Division of Labor, Industry and Agriculture. Lieutenant Governor Charles Poletti, war plans coordinator, announced the changeover from 25 agencies previously in operation will take place at division meetings.

The council will inaugurate soon a "Four for Victory" program, with these four goals for high

A WARTIME MESSAGE to all who enjoy beer at home

All brewers and bottlers have been asked by the Government to make a drastic cut in the amount of metal bottle caps they have been using.

Although metal caps are vitally important to the beverage industry, the steel used for these caps is even more vital right now for ships and other war needs.

Therefore, starting immediately, we will bottle Schaefer Beer for home consumption in quarts only.*

By discontinuing the 12-ounce Schaefer bottle for the larger 32-ounce Schaefer Quart, we shall be able to save the full amount of steel the Government has required of us. At the same time, you will still be able to enjoy in your own home all the Schaefer Beer you want.

We're sure you'll like the Schaefer Quart. It is crystal-clear and specially designed for easy handling and pouring. It saves space in your refrigerator. And it gives you more beer for less money!

We know that all who enjoy Schaefer Beer, as well as those who serve or sell it, will welcome this opportunity to help us help Uncle Sam. The F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., New York.

* Your neighborhood store still has 12-ounce bottles of Schaefer Beer on hand, and can supply you with these smaller bottles as long as they last.

TO OUR DEALERS

There will be plenty of Schaefer in Quarts—thus eliminating the necessity of rationing our dealers.

Now only in QUARTS and on DRAUGHT
